Continuous research has made it clear that Petit Verdot develops, in specific areas of the estate called Vigna Addis and Vigna Tregge, amazing communicative abilities and interprets the terroir in an excellent way.

A precious wine of great expression, produced in less than 4000 bottles (numbered) and five hundred magnums. A fascinating tasting. On the nose you will feel spices and fruits of the forest perfectly ready that give satisfying olfactory sensations. On the palate one immediately finds elegance and velvety amplitude that recalls hints of black pepper and blueberry. The finish is rich and persistent.

It is the winery's flagship wine or, rather, the wine that has made the winery known throughout the world. Its name originates from the hill of the same name where wolves were traditionally sighted. Lupicaia comes from the care and attention put into all the processes of its production, such as the manual selection of the best grapes and aging in wooden barrels.

On the nose, the wine shows aromas of currants, a balsamic minerality and hints of spices. It is a full-bodied red wine, aged in new tonneaux, rich and structured: a wine for aging and meditation. Lupicaia is not just a wine, it is an experience. Each sip encapsulates the essence of Tuscany, with notes of ripe fruit, spice and oak. Perfect for special moments, Lupicaia accompanies deep conversations and heartfelt laughter. To share a glass of Lupicaia is to celebrate the beauty of life and the bonds that unite us.

Terraforte is an evocative and welcoming place where you can taste our wines, which are the result of the intuition of my uncle Gian Annibale who, in the early 1990s, understood the potential of this terroir.

A natural symphony made up of mineral-rich soils, sea breezes, solar refraction from the sea overlooking the vineyards, forests and pristine Mediterranean bush where the Bordeaux vines, which he loved, have found a perfect habitat.

From nature, our passion and our work are born the wines of Castello del Terriccio.
